THE NEW PRIZE FOR THE BEST ITALIAN DISSERTATIONS IN CHILDREN'S LITERATURE

As part of its ongoing commitment to promoting publishing excellence, the Bologna Children's Book Fair is now focusing on the world of research with this permanent award, organized in partnership with the Research Centre on Children's Literature of Bologna University. Currently awarded for postgraduate work in Italian Universities only, the prize pays tribute to the Italian literary critic Carla Poesio and her fundamental contribution to the world of children's literature and unique role in the birth and development of the Bologna Children's Book Fair. The first edition of the prize proved a great success, with 33 research papers received from Universities throughout Italy, revealing the many different fields of investigation in children's literature.

The winner is Ilaria Martino (University of Genoa) with the work "Il romanzo distopico alla Scuola Primaria: utopia o realtà?" (The Dystopian Novel in Primary Schools: Utopia or Reality?) whose publication by a specialized publisher will be supported by BolognaFiere.

BCBF dedicates this special meeting to the Prize and the work winning the first edition. Discussants include the winner together with the expert committee.
